PROPERTY OWNERS.

A VOLUME OF INFORMATION ON TIN

ROOFS FREE OF COST!

If you have decided to place a tin roof

upon your house you should, in justice to yourself, obtain the best possible information in regard to tin for roofing purposes.

No property owner can afford to remain ignorant, when a whole volume of information devoted to the selection, laying and painting of a tin roof can be had for the asking. Messrs. Merchant & Co., of this city, are conceded to be authority on tin roofs. They have devoted much time, labor and money in presenting, in readable shape, a mass of facts upon this subject, which are of great interest to property owners. The constant inquiry from property owners for these books evinces the fact that there is considerable quiet thinking being done just now by a large number of gentlemen, who have heretofore given the subject very little consideration. What the outcome will be, almost anyone can anticipate. A better class of roofing is sure to follow, as a natural consequence. A wise property owner will send for Merchant & Co.'s new book; and, after reading it, he will certainly conclude that there was much that he did not know upon the subject of tin roofs.-Philadelphia Real Estate Record, September 11, '89.

THE BOYNE WATER Susan Green Sang It in Basin Alley

and Two Lawsnits Resulted.

SHE DID NOT KNOW ITS EFFECTS.

Mrs. Mary Shields Objected and Was Sued as a Common Scold.

CURIOUS HEARING BEFORE M'KENNA

But the Colored Woman Lost the Case and Was Force. to Pay the Costs.

Another woman was tried as a commo scold yesterday. Such trials are very rare and serve as reminders of the old blue laws still in existence. The prosecutrix lost

There was an interesting and funny hearing before Magistrate McKenna yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Mary Shields, who lives in Basin alley, in the Seventh ward, was prosecuted by Miss Susan Green, on the charge of being a common scold. This charge is one that is rarely made. The law is an old one and seldom employed. Men acquainted with the court history of this city remember only one case, that of a Mrs. Vick, who was, some time ago, convicted in the Criminal Court of being a common scold.

Mrs. Shields is a fine looking woman, of excellent figure and attractive face. Her bearing in the magistrate's office was very modest. The prosecutor is a tall, well formed colored woman, of decidedly dark color and great volubility of language. She lives across the alley from Mrs. Shields. The latter was defended by Attorney William J. Brennen. The rooms were crowded by the neighbors of the parties to the suit. Miss Green was solemnly sworn. Lean-ing upon the magistrate's desk and emphasizing her points by tapping the official on the knee, she told her tale of woe. She said: "This 're woman called me a coon and a nigger and an ape. Now, I know I'm black. I know that just as well as anybody, an' I don't need to be tole that I'm a nigger. I know it, 'Squire, 'deed I do. Nobody don't have to tell me. I says to her, says I, 'Et I was white I wouldn't talk to no niggers. She comes out at her door and calls me all sorts o' names, and she had two little children call me a coon, too. That's what she done, your honor. She tole one woman that she'd give six months of her life to send me to the workhouse. She said I was tough, and she can't prove it, neither. That's what she can't do. I lived there nine years, and I never got in a law suit before. The neighbors told me not to have any back talk with her, 'cause she'd sue me. She will sue, too, 'Squire. She will sue."

M'KENNA'S QUESTION.

You were sued by her for disorderly conduct, were you not?" Alderman McKenna asked. The prosecutor replied, "Yes, sir, I was. That was last week. I had to pay the costs. They could prove nothing, though, or I'd a been fined, wouldn't 1?" Attorney Brennen took the lady in hand and inquired, "Do you sing the Boyne

"Yes, sir; I do sing it often." "Weren't you singing it that day she had you arrested?"

'Deed I don't know whether I was or Irish that 'earnt me that song, though. It was Rosa and Julia Moore learnt me."

"Isn't it probable that they did it for the "Pshaw now; 'deed they didn't. Why, they'se only little girls. They wouldn't never think of such a thing."

Alderman Mey ...

Alderman McKenna gravely remarked: This will be a lesson to you. You will know after this not to sing the Boyne Water. You are old enough to know bet-

Mrs. Brown, Mrs. McCurdy and Mrs. Reed, white neighbors of Miss Green, were called and sworn. Mrs. Brown said she heard Mrs. Shields call Susan a coon. Mrs. McCurdy said she heard Mrs. Shields say that she would like to send "that coon" to the workhouse. Mrs. Reed said: "I saw wagging her fingers one day, but I didn't know whether she was doing it at Miss Green or at me. I was going past just then, and I didn't know who she was doing it at. Mrs. Shields called me names once, but I never spoke to the woman." SHE WASN'T QUARRELSOME.

'Aren't you quarrelsome yourself?" asked

"No, sir; I don't quarrel with nobody." "Didn't you have a quarrel with Mrs.

"No, sir, not what anybody could call a quarrel. She came over to my door and sassed me. I told her to keep on her own side of the alley. That's all I said. That's what everybody ought to do, 'Squire, keep on their own side. That's what I do. I don't go quarreling with anybody."

These three women were asked if they had heard Miss Green singing the Boyne Water. Only one of them had heard her sing it. Policeman John Sommerville was called as a witness by Miss Green, but he said he had not heard or seen any improper conduct by Mrs. Shields. He thought that she had a good reputation. He was asked if he had heard Susan singing the Boyne Water, but with a smile he said that he had not heard her commit such an overt set. Mr. Brennan moved that the defendant be discharged. Alderman McKenna said that a case had not been made out under the the law. He discharged Mrs. Shields and assessed the costs on Miss Susan Green. That colored lady was struck dumb for a few seconds. She was unable to speak. She finally fell upon the 'Squire's desk and told her story all over again. One by one the other people slipped out of the office. As the shades of evening were closing in a constable looked in at the window and saw the magistrate and Miss Green still engaged in the argument. The 'Squire looked pale and

ECHOES OF THE DISASTER.

Three More Bodies Recovered From the Ruins at Quebec. QUEBEC, September 25 .- The bodies of two little girls of Michael Bradley, who lost his whole family in the landslide were found late last night close to each other. They were not much bruised and must have died of suffocation. Joe Kemp, who was found yesterday after having been 108 hours under the debris, is dead. The body of Mrs. Maybury, found in the ruins, was badly disfigured. It is thought she lived for some hours after the avalanche and died of sheer exhaustion from gradual asphyzia.

The inhabitants of Champlain ward are much excited against certain city officials who, it is reported, have offered money to some of the wounded in the hospital to silence them in connection with any complaint they might have against the city. After the verdict in the Coroner's inquest has been rendered the people referred to will hold an indignation meeting, and trouble is feared.

A Serious Churge. Three young men, Thomas Wheeler, Alexander Stewart and Frank Conway, are now in jail, charged with misusing a 11-year-old girl at Chartiers. The men were drunk when the acts complained of were committed, but the citizens of the place were so indignant that lynching was suggested.

THE LAW LAID DOWN.

The Court Will Not Allow a Wholesale Liquor Dealer to Move-The Act of 1858 Forbids Such Transfers.

Judge Magee yesterday refused the pe-tition of Joseph Rohm, a wholesale liquor dealer at No. 38 Fifth avenue, to be allowed to transfer his place of business to No. 13 Magee street, Heretofore the Court has generally allowed the change of places of business, and the refusal was a surprise. Judge Magee, in his opinion, stated that he had formerly supposed it was within the discretion of the Court to authorize such changes, but on looking the matter up he finds other-

With reference to wholesale dealers, he holds that the act of April 20, 1858, is still in force, and its provisions cover the matter of transfer of licenses either from one person to another or from one place to another. Under this law transfers can only be made in cases of death, removal or ceasing to keep such a house, when the license can be transferred to another party house, when the license can be transferred to another party.

Juage Magee further said: "Let me say in conclusion, that I am permitted to state that any action heretofore taken by the Court at a prior session, at variance with the conclusion now reached, was hastily taken, and not intended to be regarded as a precedent for the future action of the Court, and if I do not misapprehend the present views of our Judges, I have no reason to think that there will in the future practice of the courts on this subject be found any lack of harmony."

SHAWL MUST ANSWER.

The Grand Jury Holds Francis Chelle for

Murdering His Brother. The grand jury yesterday returned a true bill against Giovinni Michael Chillo for the murder of his brother, Francis Chillo, in, East Liberty about two weeks ago. A true bill was also re-turned against Police Officer Truby Shawl for felonious assault and battery. Shawl shot a man named Britton in the hip, on Second avenue, about a month ago, while Britton and a nue, about a month ago, while Britton and a companion, it was claimed, were resisting arrest and struggling with the officer.

The other true bills returned were: John Burran, Hellena Burran, Frank Shearing, agravated assault and battery; John Hughes, John Kelly, Thomas McClellan, R. L. Marshail, assault and battery; James Galiagher, Joseph Long, Rosquali Centinio, larceny and receiving stolen goods: Charles McClure, perjury; Mary Nick, keeping a disorderly house; Mary Gallagher, Henry Rupple, James Griffith, selling liquor without a license.

The following bills were ignored: Edward Burke, Fred Meute, larceny; Fred Noek et al, larceny by ballee; Henry Snider, attempt to commit burglary; Elizabeth Crowthers, Kate Lynch, assault and battery; Martin Duffy, P. Fairman, Catharine Wilson, Christian Wilbert, selling liquor without a license; Christian Wilbert, selling liquor to intemperate persons and on Sunday; Henry Meyers, selling liquor in a prohibitory district.

HE VACILLATED.

One Year for Blgamy.

Walter Hugo Wagner pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy. Wagner is the man who was confronted with two wives in the Criminal Court a week ago, when his first wife had him brought up for desertion. It then transpired that Wagner had neglected his first wife and that Wagner had neglected his first wife and married Sarah Jane Pallin, of Allegheny. Upon instructions from Jadge White, County Detective Langhurst slodged an information against Wagner for bigamy. He was indicted and yesterday plead guilty. When about to be sentenced Wagner denied ever having married his first wife, but could not make any excuse when told that he had admitted to the Court last week that he was married to her. He was sentenced two years to the workhouse, but the judge afterward reduced it to one year.

Those sharp, cutting pains across the small of her back and lower part of her body were almost unbearable. In fact, she suffered with all those diseases and conditions peculiar to women. For three months her mind was unbalanced, and for months she was confined to her bed. She became very weak and emaciated, so that she only weighed 98 pounds.
